Dear [REDACTED]

STATINTL

Please accept my sincere thanks for arranging for [REDACTED] to come to Washington to make application for a position with this organization.

They both seem to have considerable ability, but this organization is unable to take full advantage of it. Our present needs require the services of individuals who are skilled enough to listen to the foreign radio broadcasts and simultaneously type out a transcript in English. Based on these needs, and as a result of tests which were given these two gentlemen we were unable at this time to offer them a position with us.

I greatly appreciate your cooperation with us in our effort to find suitable individuals for these vacancies.

[REDACTED] who conducts these tests, and who,
I assume, is seeing you in New York today, comes to New York quite frequently and I should be most happy to have him interview any candidates that you may know of for these positions.

We are attempting at the present time to crowd as much information as we can on the "B" wire in the new eight hour daily output. I hope that our efforts are meeting your needs. If you have any suggestions at any time please let us know.

STATINTL

Very truly yours,
STATINTL
